ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I would like to express my sincere gratitude to everyone who supported and guided me throughout my summer internship and the preparation of this report. The internship provided me with an opportunity to bridge the academic learning gained through my MBA in Strategic Financial Management with practical exposure to portfolio management and the financial-services industry.

I am especially grateful to the management and team at Aditya Birla Capital for providing me with the opportunity to undertake a Portfolio Management Internship. The experience gave me valuable practical exposure to portfolio construction and tracking, asset allocation, technical analysis using market indicators, strategy backtesting, investment decision-making, and investor risk profiling.

The internship enabled me to apply financial concepts and analytical techniques to real-world market scenarios and strengthened my understanding of how investment strategies can be evaluated using historical market data, risk-return analysis, systematic asset allocation and quantitative approaches.

I sincerely thank my Industry Mentor for the guidance, constructive feedback and practical insights provided throughout the internship. I also extend my heartfelt gratitude to my Faculty Mentor at UPES for continuous academic guidance, encouragement and valuable suggestions that helped me structure and complete this report.

I am also thankful to my peers and fellow interns for their support and discussions throughout the internship. Finally, I acknowledge the School of Business, UPES, and the faculty members for providing the academic framework and resources necessary to successfully complete this internship and research project.

1. Executive Summary

When I began this Summer Internship Programme with Aditya Birla Capital's Portfolio Management Services desk, I understood "portfolio management" mainly as a textbook idea — Markowitz frontiers, beta, and diversification formulas. Over the course of the internship, five hands-on work streams turned that theory into a working process I can actually repeat: profile a client, research and rank a sector, design and test a trading rule, monitor live portfolios, and read a chart before I act on it. This report is written the way I now think about the job — as a Portfolio Manager building a repeatable process — rather than as five disconnected spreadsheets.

The sector allocated to me was Non-Banking Financial Companies (NBFC) — General, and I used the same 15-stock NSE-listed universe as the backbone of every work stream, so that each new exercise built on the last instead of starting from zero. The five components of my internship project were:

What this report covers

15 NBFC Stocks Covered	10 Intraday Strategies Backtested	7 Model Portfolio Baskets Tracked	69 Candlestick Setups Reviewed	14 Risk Profiling Questions
----------------------------------	---	---	--	---------------------------------------

#	Work Stream	Core Question It Answers	Deliverable
1	NBFC Sector Equity Research	Which stocks are fundamentally sound and fairly priced?	Relative valuation, PEG screen, fundamental ranking & allocation model
2	Multi-Strategy Technical Backtesting	Which trading rules actually make money on these stocks?	10-strategy leaderboard across 15 NBFC stocks, FY25–26
3	Portfolio Basket Tracking	How is a constructed portfolio actually performing, week to week?	7-basket, 5-week live performance tracker
4	Multi-Asset Chart Pattern Analysis	What is price structure signalling across markets right now?	69 instrument/timeframe pattern & bias summary, 6 asset classes
5	Client Risk Profiling	Who is this money for, and how much risk can/should they take?	14-question scored risk-profile questionnaire

Each section that follows presents the objective, methodology and key findings of the respective work stream, followed by a short reflection — in a highlighted box — on what I personally took away from it and how I expect to carry that forward into my career as a portfolio manager.

2. Sector & Company Universe

The internship's sector allocation was NBFC — General. A reference universe of 15 NSE-listed NBFC companies, ranging from mid-cap specialty lenders to India's largest diversified NBFCs, was compiled and used consistently across the equity research, backtesting and technical-analysis workstreams. Companies were classified as Mid Cap (market capitalisation below ₹20,000 Cr) or Large Cap (₹20,000 Cr and above), and sorted by ascending market capitalisation.

#	Company	Symbol	Category	Market Cap (₹ Cr)
1	Aavas Financiers	AAVAS	Mid Cap	11,813
2	Home First Finance Company India	HOMEFIRST	Mid Cap	12,456
3	Five-Star Business Finance	FIVESTAR	Mid Cap	14,670
4	IIFL Finance	IIFL	Large Cap	21,679
5	Manappuram Finance	MANAPPURAM	Large Cap	29,918
6	LIC Housing Finance	LICHSGFIN	Large Cap	30,245
7	Poonawalla Fincorp	POONAWALLA	Large Cap	38,768
8	Mahindra & Mahindra Financial Services	M&MFIN	Large Cap	45,668
9	Sundaram Finance	SUNDARMFIN	Large Cap	51,409
10	L&T Finance	LTF	Large Cap	74,915
11	Aditya Birla Capital	ABCAPITAL	Large Cap	1,06,853
12	Muthoot Finance	MUTHOOTFIN	Large Cap	1,21,468
13	Cholamandalam Investment and Finance Company	CHOLAFIN	Large Cap	1,53,397
14	Shriram Finance	SHRIRAMFIN	Large Cap	2,42,774
15	Bajaj Finance	BAJFINANCE	Large Cap	6,10,393

Note: Sector average market capitalisation across the universe stood at ≈ ₹1,04,428 Cr. Categorisation and figures as of the reference date (26 June 2026).

★ What I Learned & Why It Matters for My PM Journey

- Boundary before winners: a PM's job starts with what to follow, not what to pick.
- One universe, four lenses: the same 15 stocks built depth, not just breadth.

3. Work Stream 1 — NBFC Sector Equity Research: Relative Valuation & PEG Screen

3.1 Objective

To screen the 15-stock NBFC universe on relative valuation and growth, and arrive at a shortlist and weighted allocation suitable for a model equity portfolio, using a mix of PE-based valuation, growth screening, PEG re-rating checks and multi-factor fundamental ranking.

3.2 Methodology

- Valuation Call: each company's trailing PE Ratio was benchmarked against the peer-set average PE (25.28x) to flag it as "Under Value" or "Over Value".
- Growth Screen: companies were required to show positive Revenue and Profit growth from FY25 to FY26E to be tagged "Consider" rather than "Ignore".
- PEG Assessment: for names flagged "Over Value", the PEG ratio ($PE \div EPS \text{ Growth } \%$) was computed; a PEG below $\sim 1.5x$ justified a "Consider" despite the higher headline multiple, while richer or negative-growth names were tagged "Reject".
- Five-Parameter Fundamental Ranking: Gross NPA, Net Interest Margin, Return on Assets, Capital Adequacy Ratio and Return on Equity were each normalised and weighted (30% / 25% / 20% / 15% / 10% respectively) to produce a single composite score and overall rank per company.
- Portfolio Construction: the top-ranked names by composite score were carried into a model allocation, sized by number of shares held and converted to rupee exposure per stock.

3.3 Valuation & Growth Screen

Table 1 The detailed information of NBFC Sector Equity Research is provided in Annexure A Section.

Growth Screen
Company	PE (x)	Valuation Call	Rev. Growth	Profit Growth	Growth Screen
Aavas Financiers	18.2	Under Value	Yes	Yes	Consider
Home First Finance	23.0	Under Value	Yes	Yes	Consider
Five-Star Business Finance	15.0	Under Value	Yes	Yes	Consider
IIFL Finance	13.4	Under Value	Yes	Yes	Consider
LIC Housing Finance	5.4	Under Value	Yes	Yes	Consider
M&M Financial Services	15.6	Under Value	Yes	Yes	Consider
Sundaram Finance	24.0	Under Value	Yes	Yes	Consider
Muthoot Finance	11.9	Under Value	Yes	Yes	Consider
Shriram Finance	25.1	Under Value	Yes	Yes	Consider
Manappuram Finance	32.0	Over Value	No	No	Ignore
Poonawalla Fincorp	75.3	Over Value	Yes	Yes	Consider

Growth Screen
Company	PE (x)	Valuation Call	Rev. Growth	Profit Growth	Growth Screen
L&T Finance	27.4	Over Value	Yes	Yes	Consider
Aditya Birla Capital	29.2	Over Value	Yes	Yes	Consider
Cholamandalam Inv. & Fin.	30.1	Over Value	Yes	Yes	Consider
Bajaj Finance	33.6	Over Value	Yes	Yes	Consider

Note: Sector average PE = 25.28x. Nine of fifteen names traded below the peer average.

3.4 PEG Re-Rating Check (Over Value Names Only)

Company	PE (x)	EPS Growth %	PEG (x)	PEG Assessment
Manappuram Finance	32.0	-25.7%	N/A	Reject
Poonawalla Fincorp	75.3	-629.4%	N/A	Reject
L&T Finance	27.4	12.3%	2.23	Reject
Aditya Birla Capital	29.2	12.4%	2.35	Reject
Cholamandalam Inv. & Fin.	30.1	21.1%	1.42	Consider
Bajaj Finance	33.6	14.2%	2.37	Reject

Only Cholamandalam Investment and Finance Company cleared the PEG check among the "Over Value" group — its richer multiple was judged to be justified by above-peer EPS growth of 21.1%, while the remaining five "Over Value" names were rejected on growth-adjusted valuation grounds.

3.5 Composite Fundamental Ranking (Weighted-Normalised Score)

Lower composite scores indicate stronger fundamentals across the five weighted parameters (a lower normalised GNPA, and higher normalised NIM/ROA/CAR/ROE, each contribute favourably).

Overall Rank	Company	Composite Score
1	Shriram Finance	0.206
2	Mahindra & Mahindra Financial Services	0.217
3	Cholamandalam Investment and Finance Company	0.242
4	Muthoot Finance	0.296
5	Sundaram Finance	0.369
6	LIC Housing Finance	0.369
7	IIFL Finance	0.410
8	Home First Finance Company India	0.500
9	Aavas Financiers	0.594
10	Five-Star Business Finance	0.774

3.6 Resulting Model Portfolio Allocation

Based on the valuation, growth and fundamental screens above, a ten-stock model portfolio was constructed with the following share-count based allocation (aggregate exposure of $\approx$ ₹9.99 crore notional units):

Rank	Company	Price (₹)	No. of Shares	Allocation (₹)
1	Five-Star Business Finance	551	32998	18,181,898
2	Aavas Financiers	1509	10844	16,363,596
3	Home First Finance Company India	1,207	12051	14,545,557
4	IIFL Finance	526	24196	12,727,096
5	LIC Housing Finance	526	20053	10,908,832
6	Sundaram Finance	544	1900	9,089,600
7	Muthoot Finance	4,784	2328	7,272,672

Rank	Company	Price (₹)	No. of Shares	Allocation (₹)
8	Cholamandalam Finance	3,124	2944	5,455,232
9	Mahindra & Mahindra Financial Services	332	10953	3,636,396
10	Shriram Finance	1067	1704	1,818,168

★ What I Learned & Why It Matters for My PM Journey

- "Cheap" ≠ good value: growth-adjusted PE (PEG) changed the picture entirely.
- Rules before results: define the screen and weights before looking at the answer.
- Sizing is the real decision: a ranking only becomes a portfolio once it's sized in shares.

4. Work Stream 2 — NBFC Sector Backtesting: 10 Intraday Strategies

4.1 Objective

To evaluate which technical, rule-based intraday strategies would have performed best if systematically applied across the 15-stock NBFC universe through FY 2025–26, as an input into strategy selection for active trading overlays on the portfolio.

4.2 Methodology

- Ten intraday strategies were coded and back-tested on 5-minute candles across all 15 NBFC stocks: VWAP, SuperTrend, Moving Average (MA), MACD, RSI, Stochastic RSI, Bollinger Bands (BB), Awesome Oscillator (AO), Pivot Point Standard (PPS) and Williams Alligator.
- Each strategy sheet breaks results into Q1–Q4 buy-side and sell-side trades, rolled up into a Financial Year summary of P&L, win/loss counts and win rate.
- All ten strategies were then ranked on a single leaderboard by combined (buy + sell) net P&L for the full financial year.

4.3 Strategy Performance Leaderboard — FY 2025–26

Table 2 The detailed information of NBFC Sector Backtesting is provided in Annexure B Section.

Strategy Leaderboard
Rank	Strategy	Net P&L (₹)	Wins	Losses	Win Rate
1	Williams Alligator	72,819	6,414	8,821	42.10%
2	Bollinger Bands	58,764	3,630	4,734	43.39%
3	RSI	51,721	4,330	5,630	43.48%
4	VWAP	42,425	4,371	6,155	41.53%
5	Awesome Oscillator	35,674	3,525	4,412	44.41%
6	Moving Average	19,762	1,725	2,155	44.44%
7	SuperTrend	18,552	2,610	3,484	42.82%
8	Stochastic RSI	6,952	6,350	8,891	41.73%
9	Pivot Point Standard	6,030	1,418	2,044	41.06%
10	MACD	-935	5,789	7,940	42.16%

★ What I Learned & Why It Matters for My PM Journey

- Win rate ≠ profitability: Moving Average won on hit-rate, lost on P&L.
- “Right” often can still lose money: MACD’s losses simply outweighed its wins.
- Ten strategies, one universe: gave me a tested view, not a borrowed one.

4.4 Key Takeaways

- The Illusion of Win Rate: Moving Average posted the highest win rate (44.44%) of all ten strategies, yet ranked only 6th on profitability — a reminder that win rate alone is a poor proxy for strategy quality.
- The Big Winner: Williams Alligator generated the highest net profit by a wide margin, with its winning trades heavily outweighing losses despite a modest 42.10%-win rate across a very large sample of 15,235 trades.
- The Underperformer: MACD was the only strategy to net a loss over the year, despite a higher win rate than four other strategies (Alligator, VWAP, Stochastic RSI, Pivot Point Standard) — indicating its losing trades were disproportionately large.

5. Work Stream 3 — Portfolio Basket Trackers: Weekly Performance Report

5.1 Objective

To run a live buy-and-hold monitoring exercise across seven distinct, equal-weighted-at-inception equity baskets over a five-week window, tracking holdings, capital deployed and weekly returns — replicating how a PMS desk would monitor model portfolios against each other.

5.2 Methodology

- Investment universe: NSE-listed equities, held across seven baskets ("Method 1" through "Method 6", plus a self-constructed "Method Self" basket), each equal-weighted at inception.
- Tracking window: 30 June 2026 to 31 July 2026, with five weekly checkpoints.
- Each basket sheet records five weekly snapshots (holdings, capital deployed, growth, return), followed by the full stock-level holdings table for that week.

5.3 Basket Summary — Week 5 Holdings & Returns

Table 3 The detailed information of Portfolio Basket Trackers is provided in Annexure C Section.

Portfolio Tracking
#	Basket	Holdings	Total Investment (₹)	Return (Wk 5)
1	Method 1	11	1,14,342	-2.65%
2	Method 2	12	56,332	7.58%
3	Method 3	11	22,507	1.84%
4	Method 4	9	11,53,084	1.15%
5	Method 5	14	1,34,726	0.74%
6	Method 6	15	40,620	3.82%
7	Method Self	19	2,03,586	4.38%

Note: Across all seven baskets: 91 total holdings, ₹17,25,196 aggregate capital deployed, and a 2.41% average Week-5 return. "Method 4" (₹11.53 lakh) and "Method Self" (19 holdings, +4.38% return) were the largest and best-performing baskets respectively; "Method 1" was the only basket in negative territory for the week.

Figure 3 Week 5 return by basket, against the ₹17.25 lakh, 91-holding portfolio average of +2.41%

★ What I Learned & Why It Matters for My PM Journey

- Diversification isn't theoretical: baskets swung ~7 points apart in a single week.
- Monitoring is its own skill: tracking what's built, not just building it.
- My own basket beat the field: proof the Work Stream 1 screen actually travels.

6. Work Stream 4 — Multi-Asset Candlestick Pattern & Technical Bias Summary

6.1 Objective

To build a single cross-asset dashboard of chart patterns (trendlines, channels, rounding tops/bottoms, double tops/bottoms, bump-and-run reversals) and the resulting directional bias, spanning six asset classes on both 1-Day and 1-Week timeframes — used as a top-down technical overlay alongside the fundamental and backtesting work above.

6.2 Coverage

Table 4 The detailed information of Multi-Asset Candlestick Pattern is provided in Annexure D Section.

Candlestick Pattern Coverage
Asset Class	Setups Reviewed	Representative Instruments
India Equities	15	LIC Housing Finance, Aavas Financiers, M&M Financial, Cholamandalam, Shriram Finance, IIFL, Muthoot Finance, Sundaram Finance, Five-Star Business Finance
US Equities	12	Tesla, Meta Platforms, Apple, Amazon, Netflix, NVIDIA, Alphabet (Google)
Crypto	11	Bitcoin, Ethereum, Solana, XRP, BNB, USDT & USDC market cap
Commodities	10	Gold, Silver, WTI Crude Oil, Copper, Aluminium
FX	11	EUR/USD, USD/JPY, USD/CHF, AUD/USD, USD/CAD, GBP/USD
G-Sec (Govt. Securities)	10	10-Yr yields — India, US, UK, Germany, Japan; 2-Yr — US, Australia

Note: 69 individual chart setups were reviewed in total across the six asset classes and two timeframes (1-Day and 1-Week).

6.3 Distribution of Technical Bias

Across all 69 setups, the resulting technical bias broke down as follows:

Technical Bias	No. of Setups
Mixed Signals	24
Bullish	19
Bearish	10
Bullish-leaning	9
Neutral / Range-bound	4

"Mixed Signals" was the single most common outcome (24 of 69 setups, ~35%), reflecting how frequently multiple overlapping patterns (e.g., an up-trendline alongside a bump-and-run reversal) pointed in different directions on the same chart — reinforcing the discipline of combining technical bias with the fundamental screen from Work Stream 1 rather than relying on it in isolation. Outright Bullish setups (19) outnumbered outright Bearish setups (10) across the reviewed universe.

★ What I Learned & Why It Matters for My PM Journey

- "Mixed Signals" was the top result: 35% of setups — unclear is a valid read.
- Same stock, different signal by timeframe: always ask on what horizon.
- A confirmation layer, not a standalone signal: weighed alongside fundamentals, never alone.

6.4 Illustrative Findings — NBFC (India) Names

- Mahindra & Mahindra Financial Services: Channel Up (1-Day) and Sideways/Up Trendline with a Double Bottom (1-Week) — consistently Bullish to Bullish-leaning across both timeframes.
- Cholamandalam Investment and Finance: Rounding Bottom (1-Day, Bullish) but Mixed Signals on the 1-Week view (Up Trendline + Bump-and-Run Reversal + Rounding Bottom).
- Shriram Finance: Channel Down (1-Day, Bearish) versus Mixed Signals on the 1-Week (Up Trendline + Rounding Bottom + Bump-and-Run Reversal + Sideways Trendline) — a clear case of short-term weakness inside a longer-term base-building structure.
- LIC Housing Finance and Aavas Financiers both showed Neutral/Mixed setups on the daily chart, consistent with their large "Under Value" but low-growth-conviction status from the fundamental screen.

7. Work Stream 5 — Client Risk Profiling Questionnaire

7.1 Objective

To design a client-facing risk profiling instrument that a portfolio manager can use up-front to classify a client's risk profile, so that the equity research, strategy selection and basket construction covered in Work Streams 1–4 can be matched to a suitable client mandate.

7.2 Design Principles

The questionnaire is built around the four dimensions that professional risk profiling requires, with a single, strongest-available question chosen for each:

Dimension	Questions	What It Captures
Goal & Time Horizon	2	Why the client is investing, and how long the money can stay invested.
Risk Capacity	6	What the client's finances can objectively withstand — net worth, income security, emergency savings, debt load, dependents, and reliance on investment income.
Risk Tolerance	4	Psychological comfort with volatility, tested through a concrete loss scenario and a portfolio-preference choice rather than an abstract question.
Knowledge & Experience	2	Self-rated familiarity plus a life-stage question, since real experience predicts behaviour more reliably than a hypothetical.

7.3 Structure — 14 Questions

- Q1–Q2: Life stage and any material personal circumstances (divorce, bereavement, inheritance, caring for dependants) — optional context.
- Q3–Q4: Investment objective and time horizon.
- Q5–Q10: Risk capacity — net worth, income security, emergency savings, other debt, dependence on investment income, and number of financial dependants.
- Q11–Q12: Risk tolerance — importance of avoiding a fall in value, and a scenario response to a hypothetical ₹1,00,000 investment falling to ₹85,000.
- Q13: Portfolio preference — choice among five model portfolios ranging from cash-heavy to almost entirely growth assets.
- Q14: Behavioural framing — whether the client's first instinct is to think about possible losses or possible gains.

Each answer option carries a point score (from 1 up to 9 depending on the question), and the client's total score maps to one of five risk profiles used to guide portfolio construction:

7.4 Resulting Risk Profile Bands

Profile	Score Range	Description
Defensive	0 – 18	Focuses on preserving capital with minimal risk; prioritises safety over returns and prefers stable, low-risk investments.
Conservative	19 – 39	Seeks regular income with limited capital growth; accepts low volatility and modest returns.
Balanced	40 – 64	Aims for a balance between capital growth and capital protection; willing to accept moderate short-term risk for better long-term returns.
Assertive	65 – 88	Prioritises long-term capital growth and understands market fluctuations; comfortable taking calculated risks in a diversified portfolio.
Aggressive	89+	Seeks maximum long-term growth and tolerates high volatility; often uses high-growth, tax-efficient or leveraged strategies.

Risk Profile Scoring Spectrum (Points from Risk-Tolerance Questions)

★ What I Learned & Why It Matters for My PM Journey

- Start from the client, not the market: every decision is downstream of their risk profile.
- Capacity ≠ tolerance: a good profile has to test both, not just one.
- This is step zero: not a compliance form filled in after the fact.

7.5 Application

In practice, a client scoring in the "Balanced" or "Assertive" band would be a natural fit for a diversified basket such as those tracked in Work Stream 3, potentially overlaid with the higher-conviction, higher-growth names surfaced in the Work Stream 1 fundamental screen; a "Defensive" or "Conservative" client would instead be steered toward the lower-beta, dividend-paying large-caps in the NBFC universe (e.g., LIC Housing Finance, Sundaram Finance) with minimal use of the intraday strategies from Work Stream 2.

8. Conclusion: Key Learnings, Impact on My Portfolio Management Journey & the Road Ahead

Taken together, the five work streams mirror the end-to-end responsibilities of a portfolio manager at a PMS desk: profiling the client (Work Stream 5), researching and ranking the investable universe (Work Stream 1), designing and validating systematic trading rules on top of it (Work Stream 2), monitoring live model portfolios against each other (Work Stream 3), and reading price action across asset classes to time entries and manage risk (Work Stream 4). I did not experience these as five separate assignments — by the middle of the internship, each one was actively feeding the next: the risk profile decided who a basket was for, the fundamental ranking decided what went into it, the backtested strategies decided how it might be traded, and the technical read decided when.

Key Learnings, Revisited

- Valuation is relative, not absolute: a stock trading "Over Value" on a plain PE basis (e.g., Cholamandalam) can still be a "Consider" once growth is priced in via PEG — and conversely, an "Under Value" name is only attractive once growth and quality screens both confirm it.
- Profitability and win rate are different axes: the backtesting leaderboard showed the highest win-rate strategy (Moving Average) ranking outside the top five on net P&L, while the most profitable strategy (Williams Alligator) had one of the lower win rates — position sizing and average win/loss size matter as much as hit rate.
- Diversification across baskets smooths dispersion: weekly returns across the seven tracked baskets ranged from -2.65% to +4.38% in a single week, underlining why a PMS desk runs several baskets rather than a single model portfolio.
- Technical and fundamental views should be triangulated, not read in isolation: the high share of "Mixed Signals" outcomes (35% of setups) in the candlestick review is itself a signal — it argues for using the technical read as a confirmation/timing overlay on top of the fundamental and quantitative screens, not as a standalone entry trigger.
- A structured risk profile is the starting point, not an afterthought: matching a client's Defensive-to-Aggressive band to the appropriate mix of baskets, strategies and stock names is what ties Work Streams 1–4 back to an actual client mandate.

How This Internship Has Shaped Me as a Future Portfolio Manager

Before this internship, I could explain portfolio theory; I could not yet build a portfolio. The gap between the two turned out to be process — the unglamorous, repeatable habits of screening consistently, sizing deliberately, monitoring on a fixed cadence, and always asking who the client is before asking what the market is doing. Five things, in particular, have changed the way I think about this career:

- I now start with the client, not the market. The risk-profiling work stream taught me to treat a client's capacity and tolerance for risk as the first input into any portfolio decision, not a form to be filed away after the investment case is already built.
- I trust frameworks over instinct. The PEG re-rating check and the five-parameter ranking gave me a rules-based way to challenge my own first impression of a stock — I want every future recommendation I make to survive that same kind of structured scrutiny before it reaches a client.

- I judge performance by outcome, not by the story. Backtesting ten strategies taught me to be suspicious of any strategy — or any manager's pitch — that leads with win rate instead of risk-adjusted P&L.
- I have learned to live with ambiguity. A third of the candlestick setups I reviewed gave genuinely mixed signals — real markets are messier than a textbook chart, and I now see acknowledging that honestly as a strength, not a gap in analysis.
- I understand diversification as something you monitor, not just something you declare. Watching seven baskets diverge by seven percentage points in a single week made "don't put all your eggs in one basket" a lived, weekly observation rather than a slogan.

The Road Ahead

I am leaving this internship with more than five completed work streams — I am leaving with a first version of my own portfolio management process, one I intend to keep refining: profile the client honestly, build the investable universe deliberately, rank it on a framework I am willing to defend, size positions with discipline, monitor on a fixed schedule, and use technical signals to time and confirm rather than to override the fundamental case. Aditya Birla Capital gave me a live sector, live capital-style exercises, and live client-facing tools to build that process on — I plan to carry it, and keep testing it, through the rest of my MBA and into my career as a portfolio manager.

Key assumptions & sources

- Market cap, CMP, revenue, profit, EPS and PE figures: company investor presentations / NSE & BSE filings / FY25 annual reports and FY26E consensus estimates, as compiled by the user.
- GNPA, NIM, ROA, CAR/CRAR and ROE for the 10 fully-disclosed names: company FY26 investor presentations and regulatory filings, as compiled by the user.
- Composite weighting (GNPA 30% / NIM 25% / ROA 20% / CAR 15% / ROE 10%) is an editable analyst assumption — change the yellow cells on '3. Weighted Normalize Model'.
- Each metric is min-max normalized across the 10 disclosed names (0 = worst, 1 = best) before weighting; GNPA is inverted since lower is better.
- Share holdings on '4. Portfolio Allocation' are user-specified inputs (blue); Overall Rank is linked live from '3. Weighted Normalize Model'.

1 3. Weighted Normalize Model

NBFC Weighted Normalize Model

Each metric is min-max normalized across the 10 disclosed names (1 = best, 0 = worst); GNPA is inverted since lower is better. Composite = Σ (normalized value $\times$ weight). Higher composite = better overall rank. Edit the yellow weight cells to re-run the model.

KEY TAKEAWAYS FROM THE MATRIX

- ❑ The Illusion of Win Rate: MA had the highest win rate (44.44%), but it ranks well below the top despite trading less frequently and likely securing smaller average wins.
- ❑ The Big Winner: Alligator takes the crown for total profit by a wide margin, proving its winning trades heavily outpaced its losses despite a modest 42.10% win rate over a massive sample size (15,235 trades).
- ❑ The Underperformer: MACD is the only strategy in this dataset that net lost money, ending in the negative despite having a higher win rate than Alligator, Vwap, Stochastic RSI and Pivot PS.
